

INVITATION

AGF Lecture Series FIT FOR THE FUTURE: Policies for Sustainable Growth in Europe

With Benjamin M. Friedman,
Professor of Political Economy, Harvard University

The Moral Consequences of Economic Growth

Chair: Regina Vogel, Deputy Director, Anglo-German Foundation

10 July 2007, 6 pm

Heinrich-Böll Foundation
Hackesche Höfe
Galerie
Aufgang 1, 5. OG
Rosenthalerstr. 40/41
10178 Berlin

Economic growth goes beyond the idea of an increase in income; it can lead to the creation of a more open, democratic and environmentally friendly society. This is the conclusion of Benjamin Friedman's investigations into economic history in his book "The Moral Consequences of Economic Growth". He shows how even in wealthy societies, like the US and Western Europe, economic stagnation can threaten democracy and freedom. This is a provocative stance to take in times such as these, when growth, linked to globalisation and climate change, is often seen as lying at the root of problems. His book is a stimulating contribution to the debate on the influence of growth on the process of globalisation, on the environment and on the development of democratic societies.

The lecture will be followed by an open discussion and a reception.

Please register by phone or email with Monika Steins:
phone 030-28534-244, email steins@boell.de

Regina Vogel
Deputy Director
Anglo-German Foundation

Ute Brümmer
Referentin für Wirtschaft Arbeit und Soziales
Heinrich Böll Stiftung

The AGF Lecture Series FIT FOR THE FUTURE complements the Anglo-German Foundation research initiative creating sustainable growth in europe (csge).

